Sick teen takes breath of hope

15-year-old girl doing well after getting new pair of lungs

By VICTORIA HANDYSIDES
Metro Edmonton

A typical teenage girl might ask for an iPod, cell-phone, maybe even a new car for her 16th birthday, but Haley Gall is anything but typical. The 15-year-old Hinton girl just received a set of new lungs — a gift that came just in time to save her life.

"About two days before the lungs came, they told us they would permanently incubate her in the intensive care unit and she would slowly suffocate," said Laura Pringle Gall, who joined her daughter in the hospital atrium to talk about the groundbreaking operation.

"They didn't give her much hope, maybe a week or so."

Haley has cystic fibrosis, a condition that weakened her immune system so severely that she could barely breathe on her own. Before her life-saving surgery she spent five months at Edmonton's Stollery Children's Hospital hooked up to oxygen 24 hours a day.

It's been two weeks since the surgery, and doctors say that though the teen will still require treatment for her condition for the rest of her life, she could live an extra 10 to 15 years.

"It's probably the most serious operation anyone can have," said Dr. Dale Lien, Haley's thoracic surgeon. "Though she still needs treatment, her future looks very bright."

Haley's new lungs have not shown any signs of rejection, and medical staff are confident that will continue. The surgery is the second ever performed at the Stollery, and has truly left the teen with a new lease on life.

"It's a great gift — the best thing you can do is give someone their life back," Haley said. "I'm going to go swimming, hiking, camping, and do all the strenuous activities I just couldn't do before, but now I can."

"People have been telling me they've been doing everything to send a message to God," her mother Laura added. "He must have been listening."

Capital region co-operation

Regional growth plan to be done by next April

By JEFF CUMMINGS
Metro Edmonton

The first-ever Capital region board meeting yesterday brought mayors and reeves from 25 local governments, some of whom voiced fears that the new level of government would leave developers tied up in red tape.

Edmonton Mayor Stephen Mandel, along with a handful of other municipal politicians, voiced concerns that long debates to improve the region could stall construction projects.

"I think it's not reasonable that we should hold anything up, I would think we should be able to create a process that should be very quick," said Mandel.

The board of mayors and reeves representing 25 municipalities in the Capital region was created as part of the Tory government's plans to address long-term growth after years of squabbling between the city and the surrounding municipalities.

During the meeting — also attended by Municipal Affairs Minister Ray Danyluk — everyone seemed co-operative, and board chairman Christopher

« I haven't seen any one from these municipalities that wants this board to fail. »

Chairman Christopher Sheard

Sheard says local municipal leaders have made the right step by finally getting down to talks on a new plan for the region.

"Everybody wants to come to this board to make it a success, I haven't seen anyone from these municipalities that wants this board to fail," said Sheard.

"Success means, that at the end of the day, we will have a regional growth plan

Minister of Municipal Affairs Ray Danyluk opens the inaugural capital region board meeting yesterday at Government House. Leaders from all over the region were in attendance.

that will guide this region for the next 50 years. Success, once achieved, makes winners of us all."

Mandel says the mood and the tone of the meeting was co-operative and it consisted of people "wanting to find solutions" facing issues in the region.

It's expected the board should have a new plan completed by March 31, 2009.

Bus driver accused of inappropriate touching

By JEFF CUMMINGS
Metro Edmonton

The Catholic School Board and police launched an investigation yesterday after getting word from a family that their six-year-old daughter "was inappropriately touched" by her female school bus driver.

Lori Nagy, a spokeswoman with the school board, says the incident was "not sexual in nature."

The woman, one of five drivers employed at R.L. Smith Transportation Inc., is now suspended.

The company is one of five contracted by the school board, Nagy said. The bus company could not be reached for comment.

company problems

» In November 2007, an employee from the same bus company was accused of stealing a memory stick containing names, addresses and phone numbers of 560 students.

"The company is very concerned, as we are, about this, and that is why they took the appropriate actions to suspend the driver," said Nagy.

The noon-hour bus was carrying five to six students, Nagy said.

Staff at St. Angela Elementary School where the girl attends kindergarten sent letters home to parents yesterday after finding out about the complaint.

Catch, but no release

Repeat offenders targeted in new police plan

By ANDREW COWIE
for Metro Edmonton

Repeat offenders are in the crosshairs of the new head of a province-wide task force on crime.

Former New Brunswick Crown prosecutor Bill Wister, flanked by senior Alberta law enforcement figures, was introduced as head of the Safe Communities Secretariat yesterday. The group was created to co-ordinate and implement the recommendations of the Crime Reduction and Safe Communities Task Force aimed at making Alberta a safer place to live.

The Alberta government has set aside $468 million for these recommendations and an additional $33 million to build government-owned addiction treatment facilities.

One of the 30 recommendations is a set of province-wide criteria to identify Edmonton police Chief Mike Boyd speaks to media at the Sutton Place Hotel yesterday about an Alberta plan that aims to keep communities safer.

repeat offenders and find ways to better deal with them.

"We have very clear goals," Wister said. "We want to make an impact [on the repeat offenders]."

Edmonton Police Chief Mike Boyd said he's enthusiastic about these recommendations, which he thinks will help eliminate the "catch and release" pattern with repeat offenders.

"I think that's where we gain protection of the public, instead of that recycling and the revolving door," said Boyd.

Other actions by the task force underway include Crown prosecutors at bail hearings and hurrying the process for prosecutors to help reduce lead time to trial.

The Secretariat is made of staff from nine different ministries of government including Education, Municipal Affairs and others.

Divers search sunken SUV

Police suspect drugs and alcohol in watery crash

Rescue divers were rushed to a north-end neighbourhood early yesterday morning, in search of passengers who had not made it out of an SUV after it was driven into a lake.

After blasting straight into a residential lake near Cumberland Road and 129 Street, the driver of the SUV swam to shore, where he told responding officers that there were several more people in the vehicle.

After rescue divers conducted a thorough search of the area and the vehicle was lifted from the water, it was determined that there had, in fact, not been any other occupants. The driver of the vehicle was taken to hospital for examination.

Investigators believe that drugs and alcohol were factors in the crash and have tested the driver for intoxication.

Charges are pending.

Kyoto rule violations investigated

Canada may face UN carbon trading suspension if guilty

Canada will be investigated on suspicion of violating rules for registering greenhouse gases that are the mainstay of a UN-led fight against global warming, official documents show.

Ottawa played down the news, saying it was taking quick steps to ensure it complied by the rules.

Canada could be suspended from rights to trade carbon dioxide if found to be in breach of the rules by the enforcement branch of the UN's Kyoto Protocol. Greece was suspended last month, the first country to face such a sanction.

"On 5 May 2008 Canada was given an official notification of the decision of the enforcement branch to proceed" with a formal question over compliance with rules on registering emissions, the enforcement branch said in a statement. The enforcement branch warned Canada last month that it risked scrutiny over alleged shortfalls in its greenhouse gas registry.

Aid trickling in

First UN relief flights arrive in devastated nation

The first United Nations relief flights started to arrive late yesterday for cyclone victims in military-ruled Myanmar as a U.S. diplomat said that more than 100,000 people may have been killed.

The cyclone slammed into coastal towns and villages in the rice-growing Irrawaddy delta southwest of Yangon on Saturday, the most devastating storm to hit Asia since 1991, when 143,000 people were killed in neighbouring Bangladesh.

Witnesses reported that villages were destroyed and people fought for survival by clutching trees as the storm brought walls of water charging inland from the sea.

Aid has been trickling in from other Asian nations, although frustrated governments and relief agencies are putting increasing pressure on Myanmar's reclusive military rulers to throw their borders wide open to as much help as possible.

Thailand, Japan, India, China, Singapore and Indonesia were all flying in assistance.

"The first plane has arrived with food supplies and three other flights were scheduled this morning," said Paul Risley, spokesman for the UN World Food Programme in Bangkok.

Reports of cyclone damage in a country that used to be the world's largest rice exporter added to worries about tight global supplies of the grain. Richard Horsey of the UN Office of the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs said in Bangkok that 5,000 square km of the delta were under water. REUTERS

Clinton vows to keep up the fight

Barack Obama took a commanding lead in the Democratic presidential race yesterday, but Hillary Clinton vowed to fight on after it was revealed she had loaned her campaign $6.4 million in recent weeks.

Obama's big win in North Carolina and Clinton's slim victory in Indiana widened his advantage in their battle for the right to face Republican John McCain in the November presidential election with just six contests remaining. The results left the cash-strapped Clinton campaign with little chance to halt Obama's march to the nomination.

But the New York senator brushed off calls to drop out of the race. "I'm staying in this race until there is a nominee," Clinton told reporters after a campaign rally in West Virginia, which holds a primary Tuesday.

Clinton dipped into her personal fortune again to try to keep pace with Obama, putting $5 million in to her campaign in April and $1.4 million over the past week, aides said. REUTERS

Security costs hurting North American cars

Border delays a misallocation of resources: Minister

Chinese and Indian cars will soon hit the North American market and will have a price advantage, partly because security-related costs add to the price of North American vehicles, Industry Minister Jim Prentice said yesterday.

Prentice said the costs and delays involved in North ### making trade move faster

» Prentice said the money and resources spent investigating legitimate travel should instead target areas of highest risks, while lowering barriers and improving border infrastructure to make trade move faster.

American automobile parts travelling back and forth across the U.S.-Canadian border on their way to final assembly add several hundred dollars to the price of a North American vehicle.

Speaking at a conference in Washington, Prentice said of the delays, "Not only do we hamper the legitimate trade and travel that provide the foundation for North American prosperity, but we are also clearly misallocating resources."

Calgary Enbridge profits up

TODD KOROL/REUTERS

Patrick Daniel, president and CEO of Enbridge, addresses shareholders yesterday at the company's annual general meeting in Calgary. Enbridge Inc. said its first-quarter profit climbed 11 per cent as the company moves ahead on $12 billion in projects to carry oilsands crude to U.S. markets.

Court given reasons for Kearl environmental OK

A regulatory panel has explained its environmental approval of Imperial Oil Ltd.'s Kearl oilsands project, casting uncertainty on a court hearing that began yesterday into a suspended permit for the $8-billion proposal.

In its "additional rationale" document, issued late on Tuesday, the joint review panel said Alberta's pending rules for reducing greenhouse gas emissions and 12 measures proposed by Imperial provided enough reason for its decision.

In March, in a successful appeal by environmental groups of the project's 2007 approval, a Federal Court judge ordered the panel to explain why it said Kearl's emissions would have insignificant environmental effect.

In Brief

» BCE Profit at BCE Inc., the Canadian telecom giant that is being taken private in a $34.8 billion buyout, was hit by one-time charges in the first quarter and fell sharply, even though the company had a substantial increase in wireless subscribers. BCE said it earned $258 million in the quarter, down from a profit of $499 million a year earlier.

» JETS Bombardier Inc.'s aerospace unit said it has significantly raised its long-term forecasts of global demand for business jets, and for a range of airliners that can seat 20 to 149 passengers. Bombardier Aerospace expects the industry to deliver 1,320 business jets annually from 2008 to 2017, for a total of 13,200 units worth $300 billion US. In dollar terms, that is some 30 per cent above last year's forecast, when Bombardier was calling for 9,950 deliveries worth $230 billion US for the 10-year period of 2007-2016.

Weary Stars ready for Wings

Dallas looking to put 4OT affair behind them

The Dallas Stars were weary after their quadruple-overtime win over San Jose in the early hours of Monday, but still eager to play the Detroit Red Wings in the NHL Western Conference Finals starting today.

“It’s like playing back-to-back games from a conditioning standpoint,” goalie Marty Turco told reporters on Tuesday about the five-hour 14-minute second-round series clincher against the Sharks in a conference call.

“Yesterday I know there were a few guys didn’t sleep as long as they would have liked. Got up with the mind wandering, the body aching a little bit. This morning was reality a little bit more, a little extra stiffness than most mornings.”

Hard-hitting captain Brenden Morrow scored a power-play goal to lift the Stars to their first conference final since 2000 with the 2-1 win in Dallas that clinched the best-of-seven series 4-2.

“It felt like it was two games’ worth of hitting. Body was a little drained yesterday. Every time you got down in the chair, it was pretty tough getting up,” Morrow said. “Just losing all those fluids, aches and pains. They’ve gone away from yesterday to today, though.

“It was grueling playing that many minutes, trying to play the same way, play physical. It took its toll. But it was well worth it.”

Turco played brilliantly against the Sharks, turning away 61 of 62 shots in Sunday’s marathon game.

The netminder faces a new challenge as his team battles to reach the Stanley Cup Finals — reversing his NHL mark against the Red Wings, particularly at Detroit’s Joe Louis Arena.

Turco is 2-10-5 in his NHL career against Detroit, and 0-7-2 versus the Red Wings at Joe Louis.

“There’s not anything that’s done in the past, positive or negative, that affects you going into the playoffs,” Turco said. “It’s all about your next save, your next shift, the next game.

“I’ve always known in the back of my mind playing these guys and having a lack of success, that it hasn’t happened in the playoffs, and that would be the ultimate test to see where you stand. So to say the least, I’m looking forward to it.”

Morrow, who had two overtime game-winners against San Jose and inspired the Stars with his rugged play, said playing in front of Turco has been a pleasure.

“He’s had us on his back for two rounds,” Morrow said. “He’s been spectacular in making the hard saves look easy for us for a long time. It’s been a lot of fun to watch.”

Chiefs crowned WHL champions

PLAYOFF David Rutherford scored a goal and added an assist as the Spokane Chiefs swept their way to the Western Hockey League championship last night with a 4-1 victory over the Lethbridge Hurricanes.

No four-peat for banged up Nadal

UPSET Rafael Nadal’s bid to win a fourth straight Rome Masters title stumbled at the first hurdle when the Spaniard lost 7-5, 6-1 to compatriot Juan Carlos Ferrero yesterday and then blamed a foot injury for his defeat.

It is only the second time in his last 104 games that world No. 2 Nadal has lost on clay.

The 37-year-old also captured the honour in both 2000 and 2001.

Maurice gets axe as Leafs’ bench boss

The Toronto Maple Leafs fired head coach Paul Maurice yesterday after he failed to lead the team into the playoffs during his two seasons behind the bench.

Maurice, 41, who still had one year left on a three-year contract, was named coach in 2006. His dismissal completes a house cleaning that began with the firing of general manager John Ferguson Jr. in January.

Maurice

“What this does now is pave the way for when a new management team is in place to bring in a new coaching staff with them,” interim general manager Cliff Fletcher said at a press conference.

Maurice, a former coaching wunderkind who landed his first NHL head coaching job at just 28, ended with a 76-66-22 record with the Leafs.

Magic cut into Pistons lead

Lewis nets 33 to pace Orlando

MAGIC 111 PISTONS 86

Rashard Lewis scored a career playoff-high 33 points, and the Orlando Magic took advantage of an injury to Chauncey Billups to pull away and beat the Detroit Pistons 111-86 last night in Game 3 of their NBA Eastern Conference semifinal series.

Dwight Howard added 20 points, 12 rebounds and six blocked shots for the Magic, who sliced Detroit’s lead in the best-of-seven set to 2-1. Jameer Nelson and Hedo Turkoglu both scored 18, while Keyon Dooling had all 10 of his points in the final quarter.

Lewis went 11-of-15 from the field, including 5-of-6 from three-point range.

Billups suffered a strained right hamstring in the first quarter and didn’t return.

On Monday, a clock malfunction played a part in Detroit’s 100-93 victory, as Billups hit a controversial three-pointer at the end of the third quarter. However, in Game 3 Billups was on the court for less than four minutes and the Pistons had a nine-game post-season win streak over the Magic broken.

Richard Hamilton scored 24 to lead the Pistons, who also got 22 from Tayshaun Prince and 19 from Rodney Stuckey.

Game 4 is Saturday in Orlando.

No need to be leery of fluorescents

Greenish glow, annoying flickering things of past

We've all heard about the conservation benefits of using fluorescent lights — you can cut your lighting costs by more than half by using them.

They are far more efficient producers of light, and they have a life span of six to 10 times the life of the average incandescent lamp, so consumers save money by buying fewer lights over time. So why do some people remain leery of using them?

The design team has heard it often enough — many people have a notion that fluorescent light fixtures cast a greenish yellow glow that is most unattractive. And there was some truth to this many years ago. Luckily, those days are gone.

The technology of fluorescent

ARRESTING DESIGN
JEFFREY FISHER & TAMMY SCHNURR
busted@arrestingdesign.com

lighting has developed enormously since then. The quality of light has improved, thanks to advances that allow more natural light to be produced.

Fluorescent lighting now comes in at least two types — a warm white which mimics the warm yellowish glow of incandescent lights, and a cool white, which casts a whiter light with more blue tones in it. Warm whites are often used in homes, as people are used to that inviting tone of light. Cool whites, on the other hand, cast a whiter “daylight” colour with more blue and green in it. These tend to be used in offices, or in a contemporary or modern loft setting.

Not only that, the annoying flicker that was associated with fluorescent lighting is also a thing of the past, and this is because the ballast system that is necessary in fluorescent lighting has improved as well.

Another benefit is that fluorescent lighting by its very nature does not produce as much heat as incandescent bulbs — they generate a whopping 70 per cent less heat than incandescent bulbs. And fluorescent bulbs and lamps now come in a wide range of sizes, shapes and wattages to fit many light fixtures.

For example, Sylvania lights come in 50 to 60 types of fluorescent bulbs, from compact twist bulbs to chandelier bulbs of various types, globe, reflector, and of course, long narrow lamps.

Do remember it is important to buy good-quality fluorescent lights — the cheapest ones will not give you good service. (To be sure you're getting a good-quality bulb, look for the energy star rating— a government-backed program that helps businesses and individuals save money and protect the environment through superior energy efficiency.)

Good quality bulbs will also reduce the levels of mercury and lead used in these lights. Normally, there is no release of mercury in your home through regular use — it would only happen if the lamp is broken.

And even then, the amount from a single bulb is very small, and would only become a health hazard at a disposal site, if a large number of lamps are disposed improperly.

The good news for the home owner is that retailers such as Home Depot and IKEA accept fluorescent bulbs for recycling, so you can dispose of heavy metals properly.

Wisecracker says coffee maker is like family to her

Debra DiGiovanni was voted as Canada's Best Female comedian at the 2007 Canadian Comedy Awards. This past summer, Debra appeared on the 5th season of the TV show Last Comic Standing. She was chosen as a Top 10 finalist, competing against comedians worldwide. She is a popular juror on Muchmusic's Video On Trial. The native of Point Claire, Que., originally wanted to pursue a career as a fashion illustrator but Debra always had a talent for making her friends laugh. She took a job at Citytv that allowed her to interact with an audience and became hooked. Debra then decided to switch her focus to comedy and admits she still practices her new material on her best friend, Robyn, before performing it in front of an audience. Debra is part of the Girls Night Out cross Canada tour which begins May 11th in Ottawa.

Q What is your fondest memory from your family kitchen?

A We had this old round kitchen table, with those collapsible drop leaf sides, and every single meal one of those leaves would fall and a meal would land in someone's lap. For some reason, we never got rid of the table. In fact, it spent some time in one of my old apartments.

Q What kitchen aromas bring back fond memories?

A Muffins are very nostalgic. My mom is the muffin maker.

Q Who is your favourite cook?

A My cousin Christina is definitely my favourite cook. She has always loved to cook, even when we were kids. She was always making something delicious. Christina is also a wonderful baker and has made most of my family's wedding cakes.

Q How did the first meal you prepared turn out?

A I once made lasagna for a boyfriend's family and that night everyone was violently ill. Oddly, I was the only one unaffected ...

Q Do you use cookbooks?

A If I'm going to attempt cooking, I must! I enjoy following rules.

Q What is your favourite food to cook?

A I would say it's definitely cereal.

Q What kitchen gadget can you not live without?

A My coffee maker! It's like a family member. I love you coffee maker.

Q What traditions from your background involving food do you partake in?

A I still try to follow the family ritual of making Christmas cookies every year. Growing up, my sisters and I would decorate them with icing and usually, I ended up doing the most. I'm the best decorator.

Q Is there a cultural dish that you have at gatherings that ties into a holiday?

A Gnocchi. My dad makes it every year for Christmas Eve and it represents the holidays. It's excellent, especially cold the next day!

» BUDGETING Gasoline isn't the only necessity of life that has gotten painfully expensive: Prices are rising sharply on eggs, rice, poultry, milk and bread. To make the most of your grocery dollar, try buying some good containers. Roughly 13 cents of every food dollar goes to packaging and advertising, and you'll spend a lot more than that if you are always buying snack packs and tiny bags of chips to send to school with your kids. Buy some reusable containers, buy your favourite products in bulk and make your own individual packages. Stock up on sales. You're always going to use pasta, lightbulbs and toothpaste, so buy a bunch on sale.

Down to three at Idol

51 million vote tally highest so far this season

By SANDY CAETANO
for Metro Edmonton

Jason Castro lost his chance at the American Idol crown when he didn't remember the lyrics for Bob Dylan's Mr. Tambourine Man.

The viewers were not as sympathetic for Castro, who was voted off the show last night, as they were two weeks ago with Brooke White when she fumbled on her song and had to start over. Maybe his magic has finally faded, or viewers really don't get his artistry.

It's not that Castro is a horrible singer, he's just not suited for this singing competition — he doesn't fit the Idol mould. Perhaps busking back in his hometown of Rockwall, Texas, will work better for him.

Nearly 51 million votes came flooding in following Tuesday's Rock And Roll

Jason Castro isn't the only American Idol contestant to forget song lyrics — David Archuleta blanked on words, too.

Hall Of Fame themed show, the highest this season thus far. And it was so close that the competitors — Castro, David Cook, David Archuleta and Sysha Mercado — were all within a million votes of one another.

Before the results were read, viewers were treated with the usual song and dance, a group performance that featured the Idol hopefuls singing Reeling In The Years by Steely Dan. After host Ryan Seacrest revealed that both Archuleta and Cook were safe, judge Randy Jackson offered a few words of advice to Cook.

"You just got to keep being yourself ... you've been one of our most original ever ... and rock it out baby," said Jackson.

More performances followed including a number by pop rock band Maroon 5, which sang If I Never See Your Face Again, and an appearance by Season 4 runner-up Bo Bice, who sang his new single Witness.

This week's bottom two included Mercado and Castro. Thankfully, Mercado will be returning next week as part of the final three. She has proven to be a very strong competitor, and one to be reckoned with. Unfortunately, it was Castro's turn to say goodbye.

"It's been a pleasure ... dreams do come true, so dream big," said Castro before ending the show singing Bob Marley's I Shot The Sheriff.

Mystery swirls in Durham County

In the quiet town of Durham County, everyone knows one another and assumes they live in a world where nothing bad can happen.

Of course, that's not the case. Here, danger lurks where you least expect to find it.

This Canadian original drama is set to make its series debut on Global on May 19 at 10 p.m. ET/PT. The story revolves around Det. Mike Sweeney (Hugh Dillon) and his family as he hunts down a serial killer who may just end up being the guy who lives across the street.

Durham County, which first aired on The Movie Network, opens with two 18-year-old girls having a picnic with an older man who lures them into the woods. While he binds their hands and rapes them, and leaves them for dead, a second man, Ray Prager (Justin Louis), hides amongst the trees watching everything.

Prager later comes back to have his own sick fun with the girls, one of whom is still alive. This character has a twisted mind, like something more is happening than we, as viewers, can fathom. It's as if he's using his marriage and family life to hide from who he really is — a psychotic man who has to be in control.

Meanwhile, Sweeney takes his wife and two daughters away from the big city after his partner is shot and moves in across the street from Prager, who turns out to be an old high school rival.

As the first episode continues, viewers learn a little more about each of the characters. Sweeney's wife Audrey (Hélène Joy) has been battling breast cancer and looks to be in remission, Prager's wife Traci (Sonya Salomaa) is having issues with her husband's controlling ways, Prager's son Ray Jr. (Greyston Holt) wants to go away to a writing school on his scholarship but his father refuses to let him go.

When Sweeney and Prager reunite, the tension between them indicates they have unfinished business. And while Sweeney loves his family and struggles to make it all work he is unable to forget Natalie Lacroix, with whom he fell in love while his wife was deemed to be dying of cancer.

Women bond stepfamilies

Creating happy home often falls upon stepmothers

We all know the classic Disney story of Cinderella and her wicked stepmother, who kept her as a maid while her ugly stepsisters behaved like princesses.

Though an extreme scenario, it was a predictor of the current era, when stepmothering is common, and the possibilities for a negative relationship exist. Today, many people remarry, and countless women find themselves in the stepmother role.

Well, the hard reality is this: It's entirely up to those women, who marry

A WOMAN'S WORLD
LISI TESHER
letters@metronews.ca

men with children from a previous relationship, to guide the way for the families to merge. Basically, the stepmother-stepchildren relationship depends on how the woman acts and reacts.

Remember, the children don't ask for this new arrangement, and they're often burdened with divided loyalties.

Some women respond to their new role by wishing their husband would forget about his previous family, and they may do everything in their power to ostracize and separate the stepchildren.

No matter how "good" the children may try to be, or how understanding and mature, they cannot compete with their father's new bride, especially if she's willful and manipulative. And in the end, barring they don't divorce, she'll win.

Other women may come up against serious anger, aggression, even resentment from their new stepchildren. No matter. If they're kind, loving, easy-going, and understanding, they'll eventually break down the walls these children have created, and help them grow into an extended family.

It's not easy, or that cut and dry. It's a lifelong relationship that, like any other, will have its ups and downs. But for all the complications, the end result lies in the woman's court.

Through divorce, I have a stepmother, and my mother became a stepmother, and from my vantage point, they went about it in very different ways. I've seen the scenario from both sides, and I've seen friends struggle, again, from both sides.

It's rare that everyone accepts everyone in the "new family" happily and easily from Day 1.

This isn't a scene from the late 1960s television series The Brady Bunch, in which two widowed parents marry and bring their six children together.

But it can work. It's important if you're about to become a stepmother, no matter how long you've already been in the relationship, to do some research and homework.

You and your fiancé need to discuss what exactly he expects, how much actual "mothering" he expects you to do for his child(ren), and how he sees the merging of the families.

If, for example, you're marrying a man with teenagers and have none of your own, it would be prudent to read up on teenagers of today. Just having been one yourself doesn't give you enough expertise.

Creating a happy home life is the key to living a healthy, fulfilling and happy life yourself. And remember: The children, whether babies or grown, didn't choose you over their real mother. It's up to you to win them over.

Stella calls shotgun on Scarlett's dress

Looks like newly engaged Scarlett Johansson can cross shopping for a bridal gown off her to-do list. "I'm definitely doing her wedding dress," says fashion's Stella McCartney, People.com reports. There's only one hitch before Johansson, 23, gets hitched to fiancé Ryan Reynolds, according to McCartney: "She doesn't know it yet." As for what McCartney has in mind "You know, some kind of dodgy, black thing," McCartney, tongue firmly planted in cheek, joked. "Latex! Latex for Scarlett!" Metro News Services

Lisa Marie feeling 'unusually well'

Pregnant Lisa Marie Presley says she's "feeling unusually well" these days – and addressed an apology issued by Britain's Daily Mail, People.com reports. "I'm feeling unusually well and happy being pregnant thank you," she writes. She added, in reference to the apology over text claiming that Presley was pursuing a poor diet like her late father, Elvis, "when you finally (get an apology) it is never in the same magnitude as slanderous story. Sex And The City star Kristin Davis regularly drank alcohol because she was "painfully shy" and she was desperate to be more outgoing in her 20s, femalefirst.co.uk reports. "Alcohol freed me. I was really shy and I didn't know how to come out of my shell," she said. Metro News Services

It's as close to a confession she's going to give (for now.) Yesterday's Answer

The answer is 56.

Since Cherie is backgrounded in either field, we have 50 applicants who have some experience in one area or the other. Of the 54 of them have a science background, which means 24 of this group don't have a science background.  $50 - 24 = 26$ . Eighty people have a business background, which means 6 out of the 10 field people have a business background.  $24 + 6 = 30$  people have no background in either field, so  $50 - 30 = 20$  people

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.
